Committee Referral Pending

WHEREAS, the 1998 federal Workforce Investment Act (WIA) required states to establish a service delivery system that consolidates access to 17 federally funded programs through one-stop centers; and

WHEREAS, in 1999, the General Assembly established the Virginia Workforce Council and created the Workforce Development Program as required by the WIA; and

WHEREAS, the Commonwealth has implemented the WIA by establishing a framework for one-stop service delivery of workforce services; and

WHEREAS, in 2000, the Joint Legislative Audit and Review Commission (JLARC) directed its staff to review the efficiency and effectiveness of the Commonwealth's workforce training efforts; and

WHEREAS, Item 130 E.2 of the 2002-2004 Appropriation Act directed JLARC to review the administration of the WIA; and

WHEREAS, in 2003, JLARC issued a comprehensive review of workforce training in Virginia, in which it assessed Virginia's implementation of the WIA and found that Virginia lacked a coherent, coordinated system of workforce training and that no formal coordination among the workforce training programs existed; and

WHEREAS, in 2005, the General Assembly adopted House Joint Resolution 713, which established a joint subcommittee to study the need for greater consolidation or coordination of the workforce development and training resources available in the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, in 2013 and 2014, the General Assembly adopted House Joint Resolution 688 and § 1-11(H) of the 2014 Appropriation Act, respectively, both of which directed JLARC to update its 2003 report on the Commonwealth's Implementation of the Workforce Investment Act and to further study the effectiveness of Virginia's workforce development programs at ensuring that Virginians possess the skills and credentials desired by the state's employers and to present recommendations to ensure entities with oversight responsibilities are provided access to information regarding the programs' expenditures and outcomes; and

WHEREAS, in 2014, JLARC issued a comprehensive review of workforce training in Virginia, in which it assessed the Commonwealth's workforce training programs and found that such programs were poorly organized and out of touch with employers and the state's labor market; and

WHEREAS, in subsequent years a number of changes have been made to the Commonwealth's workforce development system, including reform of the Virginia Workforce Council into the Virginia Board of Workforce Development and the creation of a Chief Workforce Development Advisor; and

WHEREAS, the passage of over seven years since JLARC's completion of its most recent assessment of the Commonwealth's workforce development programs has necessitated an update and reexamination of that assessment; now, therefore, be it
